

Electronic product certificates with Exder EPC

Exder EPC (Electronic Product Certificate) lets you manage and transfer electronic article information (product certificates) to your customers. With Exder EPC – the first system to be approved by GS1 – you meet all the electronic article information requirements of GS1, ICA, Coop, Axfood and many others.

Quick startup – access the system directly on the Internet

Sign up for Exder EPC on Expert Systems' website and you can start using the system immediately. All you need is a PC with a web connection and a browser (MS Internet Explorer 5 or later). Exder EPC has built-in help that makes it easy to get started with electronic commerce. Take a training course by telephone and startup is even easier.

Who to make business with

Exder is the market's leading system for electronic article information. With Exder EPC, you can send electronic article information to Axfood, Coop, ICA and Konsum Nord. All messages are sent via GS1 and Validoo. You work the same way with all customers, and Exder EPC makes sure the right message goes to the right customer in the right format. Coop uses Exder to receive and process electronic article information.

How Exder EPC works

In Exder EPC, you collect information on the articles' weight, measurements and packaging hierarchies according to the retail industry's requirements for trade item declarations (TID). The article information is placed in a message and sent to your customer electronically via GS1 Validoo.

Article information can also be printed out or saved as a PDF file on your PC.

Exder EPC includes

A check function that ensures the right information is entered, that the values are reasonable and that all required fields are filled in. Weights are calculated and displayed.

Authorization checks to increase internal security. Support for copying article information to new article numbers. This makes entry easier if, for example, the only difference between a new and existing article is the flavor.

Checklists can be produced based on a variety of parameters.

Exder lets you grow

Do you want to show pictures of your products? It's easy to add additional functions so you can use Exder as a complete web-based enterprise resource planning system.

Exder – a safe choice

Expert Systems has provided Exder since 1992. Over 1,000 European companies use the system to manage commerce with their most important customers. Axfood, ICA, Coop, Sandvik, Konsum Nord, Servera and several municipalities and county councils recommend their suppliers to use Exder.
